UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
RIVERSIDE DIVISION

In re:

CARLOS ALBERTO QUIROZ and ANGELES JACUINDE QUIROZ,

Debtors.

Case No.: 6:17-bk-10255-WJ

MEMORANDUM OF DECISION
REGARDING CHAPTER 13
SUPPLEMENTAL FEE APPLICATION

1 I. INTRODUCTION.

2 The Travis Law Firm (“Firm”), counsel for the chapter 13 debtors, Carlos and Angeles 3 Quiroz (“Debtors”), has filed an application for supplemental fees entitled “Application for 4 Supplemental Fees” [docket number 73] (“Application”). The billing records of the Firm in the 5 Application seek fees for two categories of services in this chapter 13 case: (1) $920 for opposing a 6 motion for relief from the automatic stay¹ and (2) $3,700 for preparing a declaration of the Debtors, 7 for attending a status conference, for submitting a brief prior to the status conference and for 8 preparing the fee application.² The total of these figures is $4,620.³

9 The chapter 13 trustee, Rod Danielson (“Trustee”), has filed opposition to the Application 10 [docket #75] and contends that the Court should allow $2,025 consisting of (1) $600 for 11 opposing the motion for relief from the automatic stay, (2) $1,350 for preparing a declaration of 12 the Debtors, attending a status conference and submitting a brief prior to the status conference, 13 and (3) $75 for preparing the fee application.

14 For the reasons set forth below, the Court allows total fees and costs of $2,325.

16 II. THE APPLICABLE LEGAL STANDARD.

17 Section 329(b) of the Bankruptcy Code limits attorneys for debtors to “reasonable” 18 attorney’s fees. See 11 U.S.C. § 329. Under the statute, a fee charged by counsel for a debtor 19 that “exceeds the reasonable value of any such services” is not permissible. According to the 20 legislative history for the statute, Congress believed that fees charged by counsel for debtors 21 “should be subject to careful scrutiny.”⁴ Thus, the Code requires bankruptcy courts to evaluate

22 _____
23 ¹ The $920 in fees appear under the heading “Motion for Relief-Bank of America” on page 2 of the 24 Application and the top half of page 3.

25 ² The $3,700 in fees appear under the heading “Status Conference re: Post-Confirmation Default” on the 26 bottom half of page 3 of the Application and all of page 4.

27 ³ The first page of the Application requests $4,720 but the chapter 13 trustee, Rod Danielson, asserts that this 28 figure is the product of a “typo” and that the actual requested amount is $4,620. The billing records attached to the Application appear to corroborate the Trustee’s observation.

⁴ See Senate Report 95-989, 95th Congress 2nd Session 39 (1978); See, e.g., Christopher v. MIR, Boh!
Ristorante, Inc. (In re Boh! Ristorante), 99 B.R. 971, 972 (9th Cir. BAP 1989) (“It is well recognized that: ‘Payments

1 the fees charged by counsel for debtors.

2 The leading case in the Ninth Circuit regarding awarding attorney's fees in chapter 13 3 cases is Law Offices of David A. Boone v. Derham-Burk (In re Eliapo), 468 F.3d 592 (9th Cir.
4 2006). As described at length in that case, when considering a fee application in a chapter 13 5 case, courts tend to not rely upon the lodestar method when awarding fees for routine tasks 6 regularly performed in large numbers of chapter 13 cases and, instead, look to the "normal and 7 customary" fees charged by other chapter 13 attorneys in the legal community. Id. at 599-600.
8 On this subject, the Ninth Circuit cited the following cases for the "normal and customary" 9 standard: Chamberlain v. Kula (In re Kula), 213 B.R. 729, 737 n.5 (8th Cir. BAP 1997) 10 ("Because the majority of work in most Chapter 13 cases is normal and customary, and because 11 of the sheer volume of such cases in most districts, the lodestar calculation may not necessarily 12 be the best method for determining appropriate fees in those cases.") and In re Szymczak, 246 13 B.R. 774, 781 (Bankr. D.N.J. 2000) ("Because use of the lodestar method for calculating legal 14 fees does not achieve fair and reasonable results for debtor's counsel in chapter 13 cases, 15 bankruptcy courts should divide services into two categories: work that is standard or normal and 16 customary in a chapter 13 case and work that falls outside of this standard.") as well as In re 17 Watkins, 189 B.R. 823, 828 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 1995) (approving use of a "normal and 18 customary" standard for routine services in Chapter 13 cases, and use of the lodestar method for 19 work that "falls outside of that standard").

20 In reflecting on the Eliapo decision ten years later, the Ninth Circuit stated that "nothing 21 required the bankruptcy court to apply the lodestar method, Unsecured Creditors' Comm. v.
22 Puget Sound Plywood, Inc., 924 F.2d 955, 960 (9th Cir. 1991), which, as we have previously 23 noted, is problematic in Chapter 13 cases, see In re Eliapo, 468 F.3d 598-99 (describing the 24 problems with applying the lodestar method in Chapter 13 cases and approving the use of 25 presumptive fees in such cases)." Bayer Wishman & Leotta (In re Walker), 652 Fed. Appx. 539 26 (9th Cir. 2016).

27 to a debtor's attorney provide serious potential for evasion of creditor protection provisions of the bankruptcy laws, 28 and serious potential for overreaching by the debtor's attorney, and should be subject to careful scrutiny.'" (quoting the Senate Report)).

1 Finally, under applicable law, attorneys who submit a fee application bear the burden of 2 proving an entitlement to fees. A chapter 13 fee application must include evidence that the 3 amount of fees requested is “usual and customary” in comparison to the fees charged for the 4 same tasks performed by other chapter 13 attorneys in other cases. The applications must 5 include sufficient evidence that the requested fees are reasonable. Bayer at 2 (“[Chapter 13 6 debtors’ counsel] did not carry its burden of proving its entitlement to the fees requested because 7 it failed to produce sufficient evidence that the fee request was reasonable. See 11 U.S.C.
8 §§ 330(a)(2), (a)(3); Camacho v. Bridgeport Fin., Inc., 523 F.3d 973, 980 (9th Cir. 2008) (“[T]he 9 burden is on the fee applicant to produce satisfactory evidence—in addition to the attorney’s own 10 affidavits—that the requested [fees are reasonable.]” (quoting Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 11 895 n.11, 104 S. Ct. 1541, 79 L. Ed. 2d 891 (1984)).”).

13 III. FEES FOR ADDRESSING THE MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM STAY.

14 A. No Evidence Of Reasonableness Of The Fees.

15 When submitting a fee application, the law requires applicants to provide evidence that 16 their fees are reasonable in comparison to similar services rendered by other attorneys. It is not 17 enough to simply provide the billing records of the applicants showing the work performed in 18 one case. Instead, the applicants must also provide evidence that the fees are reasonable in 19 comparison to fees of other attorneys. Requested fees must be “usual and customary” in amount.
20 This requires some evidence of the custom and practice in the legal community for the task at 21 hand.

22 In this case, the Firm did not provide any such evidence in support of its Application.
23 Rather, the Firm simply provided its own billing records with no evidence that the amounts 24 sought are “usual and customary” in comparison to other attorneys. That hampers the ability of 25 the Court to evaluate the Application.

26 However, as discussed in greater detail below, the Court faced this same situation in the 27 case of In re Kevin Walker, 6:09-bk-28706-WJ in which a chapter 13 attorney filed a fee 28 application with billing entries but provided no evidence of reasonableness. In that situation, the 1 Court reviewed 125 similar fee applications filed by chapter 13 attorneys performing the same 2 task. Given that the Court reviews and processes hundreds of supplemental fee applications 3 every year, the Court sees quite a bit of evidence regarding the amount of fees charged by 4 chapter 13 debtors' attorneys.

5 On appeal, both the District Court and the Court of Appeals affirmed this approach. See 6 Bayer Wishman & Leotta (In re Walker), 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 117644 (C.D. Cal. 2014), 7 affirmed, 652 Fed. Appx. 539 (9th Cir. 2016). In particular, the District Court noted that in the 8 Walker case (like this one) the "supplemental fee application did not contain any information to 9 demonstrate the reasonableness of the fees for the particular task at issue." 2014 U.S. Dist.
10 LEXIS 117644 at *8. In this context, the District Court stated that "[i]n the absence of such 11 evidence, the Court conducted its own independent study to determine a reasonable fee in which 12 it compiled information concerning 125 cases where fee applications were filed in the Riverside 13 Division seeking compensation for the same task . . . This Court finds that the Bankruptcy Court 14 did not err or abuse its discretion, but instead followed a reasonable approach and reached a 15 reasonable conclusion as to the value of the services at issue based on the information available." 16 Id. at *8-*10. The Court of Appeals affirmed, stating that the "fee study relied upon by the 17 bankruptcy court . . . consisting of 125 supplemental fee requests filed in the Riverside Division 18 for preparation of a Chapter 13 status report . . . provided concrete evidence of the comparative 19 unreasonableness of BWL's fee request." 652 Fed. Appx. at 540.

20 As in the Walker case, the Firm has not provided evidence of reasonableness of its fees.
21 Therefore, as in the Walker case, the Court has spent considerable time reviewing hundreds of 22 other fee applications for services similar to the services set forth in the Application by the Firm.
23 The data found by the Court is listed on the attached exhibits and discussed below.

25 B. The Aggregate Results From 168 Fee Applications.

26 In considering and analyzing the Application, the Court has reviewed 168 fee applications 27 filed in other chapter 13 cases which this Court has considered and approved in the past. A list 28 of those 168 applications is attached as Exhibit 1. The 168 fee applications are listed in 1 chronological order.

2 Over the years, the Court has considered thousands of supplemental fee applications filed 3 by attorneys for chapter 13 debtors. The fee applications pertain to dozens of different kinds of 4 services rendered during a chapter 13 case. The Court has considered 168 fee applications that 5 pertain to motions for relief from stay.

6 The 168 fee applications listed on Exhibit 1 involve chapter 13 cases in which a creditor 7 filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay and counsel for the debtors assisted the debtors 8 in dealing with the motion.⁵ As set forth on the last page of Exhibit 1, attorneys for chapter 13 9 debtors have requested on average $507.47 in fees and costs for addressing a motion for relief 10 from stay and they have agreed to accept an average of $442.58 in allowed fees and costs. The 11 difference, of course, is based on objections by the chapter 13 trustee.

12 In 123 of the 168 cases, counsel for the chapter 13 debtors requested an amount of fees 13 and costs and the trustee agreed with that request. The trustee did not object to 123 of the fee 14 applications. Thus, in 73% of the cases,⁶ the trustee agreed with the amount requested by 15 counsel for the debtors.

16 In 27% of the cases, however, counsel for the debtors requested an amount which the 17 trustee considered too high and, therefore, the trustee filed an objection suggesting a lower 18 amount. In all of these instances (45 cases), counsel for the debtors agreed to the reduction in 19 fees requested by the trustee. The parties reached an agreement without court adjudication.

20 This is an important fact. The Court did not adjudicate any of the 168 fee applications.⁷ 21 Nor has the Court posted guidelines regarding such tasks or otherwise weighed in (prior to this 22 decision in this case) as to the appropriate amount of fees for responding to a motion for relief

23

24 ⁵ As set forth in Table C on Exhibit 2, three of the 168 fee applications involve instances in which no motion 25 for relief from the automatic stay was filed but, instead, counsel for the creditor contacted debtors' counsel and 26 requested a stipulation (to which counsel agreed). The other 165 fee applications involve instances in which a motion for relief from stay was filed by the creditor and counsel for the chapter 13 debtors assisted the debtors in dealing with the motion in some manner.

27

⁶ 123 divided by 168 equals 0.732.

28

⁷ The Walker case mentioned in other places in this memorandum did not involve the task of responding to a motion for relief from the automatic stay.

1 from the automatic stay. Instead, the parties reached their own decisions regarding the 2 appropriate amount of the fees (with or without an objection by the trustee).

3 Thus, when considering all 168 fee applications, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors have 4 agreed, on average, to accept $442.58 for assisting debtors in addressing a motion for relief from 5 stay. The figure of $442.58 includes all attorney's fees, all costs, all fees for appearing at 6 hearings and all work associated with preparing the fee application itself. The figure of $442.58 7 is all inclusive.

8 The sum of $442.58, however, is inadequate for two reasons. First, this figure is based on 9 168 fee applications filed over nine years. Over a time period spanning nearly a decade, inflation 10 casts a shadow that cannot be ignored. And while the country has enjoyed relatively stable 11 inflation rates for several decades, the ever steady march of time still causes unyielding increases 12 in costs and prices for goods and services.

13 For this reason, the Court has further segregated the data from the 168 cases on Exhibit 1 14 by three time periods spanning three years each: 2011-2013, 2014-2016 and 2017-2019. As set 15 forth on the last page of Exhibit 1, the averages during all three time periods have steadily 16 increased. During the most recent period (2017-2019) – which covers 40 fee applications – 17 attorneys for chapter 13 debtors have requested on average $700.18 in fees and costs for 18 addressing a motion for relief from stay and, on average, they have agreed to accept $545.04 in 19 allowed fees and costs. Thus, the agreed average ($545.04) for the last three years is about $100 20 more than the agreed average for all nine years ($442.58).

21 However, while the Firm would undoubtedly support an increase from $442.58 to 22 $545.04, the figure of $545.04 is too low for a second reason: the variety of services rendered.
23 Not all motions for relief from stay are created equal. Or rather, not all motions for relief from 24 stay require the same response.

25 Some motions for relief from stay can be ignored. Other motions require virtually no 26 response. Still other motions for relief from stay require some opposition.

27 Therefore, in determining a reasonable fee for the Firm, further analysis is needed. The 28 Court needs to focus more keenly on the services rendered by the Firm in this case.

1 C. Table A: Unopposed Motions Not Involving Fraud.

2 In reviewing the 168 fee applications and the services rendered, the Court has reorganized 3 the data on Exhibits 2 and 3 by subgroups of similar services rendered. Whereas Exhibit 1 lists 4 all 168 applications chronologically, Exhibits 2 and 3 group those same 168 fee applications by 5 subgroups. Exhibits 2 and 3 contain all the same information as in Exhibit 1 but organized 6 differently.

7 Exhibit 2 contains three tables: A, B and C. Table A includes instances in which debtors 8 did not oppose a creditor obtaining relief from the automatic stay to recover property of the 9 debtors. This could occur for several reasons. In some cases, chapter 13 debtors propose under 10 their chapter 13 plan to abandon vehicles or real property and, therefore, when the lender files the 11 motion for relief from stay, debtors do not oppose. In other cases, debtors propose to retain real 12 property or vehicles under their plan but later (post-confirmation) they give up because the 13 financial drain is too great. In such cases, debtors do not want the property and, therefore, do not 14 oppose relief from the automatic stay.

15 In such instances, counsel for the debtors will very often file nothing at all in response to 16 the motion for relief from stay. In rare instances, however, counsel will file a very short form 17 pleading stating that the debtors do not oppose the motion. Table A lists 41 fee applications 18 which cover this type of scenario. As listed at the end of Table A, attorneys for chapter 13 19 debtors that have assisted with motions for relief from stay under these circumstances have 20 requested on average $162.16 in fees and costs and, on average, they have agreed to accept 21 $140.69 in allowed fees and costs. The figure of $140.69 includes all attorney's fees, all costs 22 and all work associated with preparing the fee application itself.

23 24 D. Table B: Cases Involving Fraud With No Opposition or Limited Opposition.

25 Table B on Exhibit 2 lists ten fee applications involving so-called "hijacked" cases.
26 These are instances when a dishonest person who is not a debtor in bankruptcy seeks to stall a 27 foreclosure or eviction without filing his or her own bankruptcy case but by "hijacking" an 28 existing bankruptcy case filed by an honest debtor. Instead of filing his or her own bankruptcy

1 case, the dishonest person allegedly transfers some portion (or all) of real property to an honest 2 debtor (often picked at random) who is currently in a pending bankruptcy case for the sole 3 purpose of invoking the automatic stay in the bankruptcy case of the honest debtor. In most 4 instances, the debtors selected at random in these “hijacked” cases have no connection with the 5 transferee and have no desire to receive a transfer of any interest in the property. In some cases, 6 the alleged transfers are fake (i.e. the alleged transfer documents are not recorded or otherwise 7 valid). In most of these cases, the debtor is not involved in the fraud and disavows the property.
8 Indeed, the honest debtors typically do not even learn of the fraud until a creditor files a motion 9 in the case.

10 When this scenario occurs and the lender files a motion for relief from the automatic stay, 11 many debtors simply ignore the motion. Because debtors disavow the property, they have no 12 interest in defeating the motion. In rare instances, however, counsel for the debtors will file a 13 brief responding to the motion and disavowing the property that is the subject of the motion.
14 Sometimes counsel for the debtors will characterize the responsive brief as non-opposition or 15 limited opposition. With respect to the latter, the debtors disavow the property (and consent to 16 relief from stay) but they oppose any findings that the debtors were involved in the fraudulent 17 activity.

18 As listed at the end of Table B, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors that have assisted with 19 motions for relief from stay under these circumstances have requested on average $488.88 in fees 20 and costs and, on average, they have agreed to accept $442.50 in allowed fees and costs. The 21 figure of $442.50 includes all attorney’s fees, all costs, all court appearances and all work 22 associated with preparing the fee application itself.

23 24 E. Table C: Miscellaneous.

25 Finally, the last table on Exhibit 2 – Table C – lists eleven fee applications involving 26 relatively infrequent miscellaneous responses to motions for relief from stay in chapter 13.

1 F. Table D: Motions For Relief From Stay Opposed By Debtors.

2 In evaluating fees in this case, it is important to not include the data in Tables A, B and C 3 on Exhibit 2 because the tasks performed by the Firm in this case were (slightly) different. The 4 Firm provided a bit more services in this case than the attorneys did in the 62 cases described in 5 Tables A, B and C. And since the average fees for services in Tables A, B and C are 6 considerably lower, they depress the figure of $545.04 mentioned earlier. In other words, the 7 figure of $545.04 will be higher when focusing more precisely on the services rendered in this 8 case.

9 Table D on Exhibit 3 contains the data most relevant to the current application filed by 10 the Firm. Table D lists 106 fee applications in instances in which a chapter 13 debtor fell behind 11 in making post-confirmation secured debt payments on a home mortgage or vehicle or other 12 secured debt and desired to defeat the motion by arranging for an adequate protection order or by 13 converting to conduit payments. Those are the facts in this case.

14
15 1. The Quiroz Relief From Stay Motion

16 Specifically, in this case, the Debtors fell behind in making the mortgage payments on 17 their home post-petition. The failure to make payments during the chapter 13 case constituted a 18 default under the terms of their confirmed chapter 13 plan. In response, the lender (Bank of 19 America) filed a motion for relief from the automatic stay [docket #54]. As required under the 20 local rules, the lender used a mandatory court form motion.

21 The Firm responded on behalf of the Debtors and filed an opposition brief [docket #56].
22 The motion was resolved by a stipulation converting from direct payments to the mortgage 23 lender to conduit payments using a plan modification. The chapter 13 trustee prepared a 24 stipulation (using information received from counsel for the lender and Debtors) which the 25 parties executed [docket #65]. The chapter 13 trustee then prepared an order modifying the 26 chapter 13 plan consistent with the stipulation which the Court entered [docket #67].

27 This is a common occurrence which the Court and the parties regularly encounter in 28 confirmed chapter 13 cases. When a chapter 13 debtor defaults in making direct payments to a 1 lender post-confirmation, the matter is almost always resolved either with an adequate protection 2 order or an order converting to conduit payments. This Court requires the latter, but the work 3 involved is the same for both. Either way, the parties negotiate terms to cure the arrearage and 4 provide for future payments and then the Court enters an order consistent with the terms 5 negotiated by parties.

6 The work performed by the Firm in this case was typical for this scenario. The Firm 7 reviewed the form motion for relief from stay and then drafted a very short response brief. The 8 opposition brief filed by the Firm on March 15, 2019 was a very short form pleading. The brief 9 itself consisted of two sentences. The attached declaration consisted of one sentence 10 (paragraph 3) as well as the common introductory language in paragraphs 1 and 2 (found in 11 nearly all declarations). So, the pleading basically consisted of three sentences.

12 The opposition brief filed by the Firm was also clearly a form that the Firm had used on 13 many occasions before. The opposition brief is nearly identical in form and substance to similar 14 briefs filed by the Firm in other chapter 13 cases handled by the Firm including:

15
16 In re Eric and Karen Chambers, Case No. 6:11-bk-27812-WJ [docket #102]

17 In re Clement and Nannetta Harris, 6:18-bk-15084-WJ [docket #49]

18 In re Zabi Noori, Case No. 6:10-bk-45616-WJ [docket #147]

19 In David and Cynthia Burns, Case No. 6:10-bk-41777-WJ [docket #117]

20 In re Sandra Poulsen, Case 6:17-bk-18645-WJ [docket #28]

22 The Court's comments about the Firm using a short form opposition brief are not meant 23 to sound critical. The bare bones brief filed by the Firm worked. Most chapter 13 attorneys for 24 debtors in this situation file bare bones briefs and then quickly resolve the matter either through 25 an adequate protection order or converting to conduit payments. That is a regular occurrence in 26 chapter 13 cases and the situation almost never requires meaningful briefing by either the moving 27 party or the opposing party.
28

1 In addition to the short brief, counsel for the debtors will typically communicate on 2 several occasions (either by phone or e-mail) with their clients and counsel for the lender (and 3 the trustee) to exchange the information needed for the stipulation to cure the arrearage and 4 arrange for making of future payments. The lender or the chapter 13 trustee then prepares the 5 stipulation which counsel for the debtors typically reviews and signs. The lender or the 6 chapter 13 trustee then prepares a proposed order consistent with the terms and submits it to the 7 Court. The billing records of the Firm reflect that the Firm provided these common services in 8 this case.

9 Finally, counsel for debtors will often appear at one or two hearings regarding the motion 10 for relief from stay. In such circumstances, the parties almost always jointly ask for a continued 11 hearing to finish working on their stipulation. The hearings are typically very short and do not 12 involve any disputed oral argument. In some cases, if the parties act quickly enough and 13 promptly submit a stipulation and order, the hearing is avoided entirely.

14 Table D lists 106 fee applications involving this same scenario. The Table is divided into 15 three parts. Part 1 lists fee applications in 79 cases in which counsel for the debtors performed 16 the same work as in this case. Specifically, counsel for the debtors reviewed the motion for relief 17 from stay, filed a bare bones objection to the motion, communicated with the debtors and counsel 18 for the lender, arranged for an adequate protection order or a plan modification converting to 19 conduit payments, appeared at one or two hearings and prepared a fee application.

20 As listed at the end of Table D, Part 1, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors that have provided 21 these services – the same services provided in the Quiroz case – in these 79 cases have requested 22 on average $687.93 in fees and costs and, on average, they have agreed to accept $586.73 in 23 allowed fees and costs. The figure of $586.73 includes all attorney's fees, all costs, all court 24 appearances and all work associated with preparing the fee application itself.

25 Part 2 of Table D lists nine fee applications in which counsel for the chapter 13 debtors 26 provided all the same services but provided a lengthier opposition brief. In these nine cases, 27 counsel for the debtors provided longer opposition briefs and not the bare bones briefs filed in 28 this case and the 79 cases listed in Part 1. As listed at the end of Table D, Part 2, attorneys for 1 chapter 13 debtors that have provided these services – the same services provided in the Quiroz 2 case with a longer opposition brief – in these 9 cases have requested on average $653.80 in fees 3 and costs and, on average, they have agreed to accept $591.17 in allowed fees and costs. The 4 figure of $591.17 includes all attorney’s fees, all costs, all court appearances and all work

5 associated with preparing the fee application itself.

6 Finally, Part 3 of Table D lists eighteen fee applications in which counsel for the 7 chapter 13 debtors provided all the same services without filing any brief. In other words, 8 counsel for the debtors helped debtors oppose a motion for relief from stay and obtain an 9 adequate protection order (or convert to conduit payments) without filing any brief. As listed at 10 the end of Table D, Part 3, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors that have provided these services in 11 these eighteen cases have requested on average $539.92 in fees and costs and, on average, they 12 have agreed to accept $508.70 in allowed fees and costs. The figure of $508.70 includes all 13 attorney’s fees, all costs, all court appearances and all work associated with preparing the fee 14 application itself.

15 Overall, at the end of Exhibit 3, the Court has listed the aggregated numbers for all 106 16 fee applications. Overall, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors that have provided the same services 17 in 106 cases similar to the current case have requested on average $659.90 in fees and costs and,
18 on average, they have agreed to accept $573.86 in allowed fees and costs. The figure of $573.86 19 includes all attorney’s fees, all costs, all court appearances and all work associated with 20 preparing the fee application itself.

21 In order to take into account the impact of inflation, the Court has broken down these 22 figures by time period. During the most recent period (2017-2019) – which covers 32 fee 23 applications – attorneys for chapter 13 debtors have requested on average $788.04 in fees and 24 costs for addressing a motion for relief from stay and, on average, they have agreed to accept an 25 average of $608.34 in allowed fees and costs. Thus, the agreed average ($608.34) for the last 26 three years is about $25 more than the agreed average for all nine years ($573.86) and about $60
27 more than the figure of $545.04 mentioned above. By focusing more tightly on fee applications 28 involving the same services rendered by the Firm, the average agreed fee in the community is 1 $608.34 (not $573.86 or $545.04).

3 2. The Fees In This Case.

4 When comparing this data to the current case, it is clear that the amounts sought by the 5 Firm in this case are unusually high. The Firm seeks $920 for resolving a motion for relief from 6 stay but the average amount of fees awarded for 106 similar fee applications for similar fees over 7 the last nine years is $573.86. For the last three years (2017-2019), the average amount of fees 8 which chapter 13 debtors and trustees have agreed upon for similar services is $608.34. The 9 request of the Firm is about $210 higher.

10 In addition, the average amount of fees and costs awarded in connection with the 79 fee 11 applications for services identical to the services provided by the Firm in this case (see Table D, 12 part 1) is $586.73. Thus, the request for $920 is well above the “usual and customary” fees 13 charged by other chapter 13 debtors’ attorneys for similar services.

14 Also, 98% of the 106 fee applications listed on Exhibit 3 involved instances in which 15 counsel for the debtors asked for less than $920 (or asked for more than $920 that but agreed to 16 less than $920 after an objection by the trustee) for the same services provided by the Firm. One 17 hundred and four of the 106 fee applications resulted in agreed fee awards of less than $920 for 18 the same services provided by the Firm in this case.

19 Stated differently, 98% of other chapter 13 debtors attorneys were more efficient than the 20 Firm in this case and efficiency matters to the Ninth Circuit. In its decision in Law Offices of 21 David A. Boone v. Derham-Burk (In re Eliapo), 468 F.3d 592 (9th Cir. 2006), the Ninth Circuit 22 indicated that when courts evaluate fees charged by debtors’ counsel in chapter 13 cases, they 23 should do so in a manner that “encourages efficient use of attorney time by providing fair 24 compensation to efficient practitioners and by preventing inefficient practitioners from passing 25 on the cost of their inefficiency.” Id. at 599. The Court leaned in favor of rewarding efficient 26 practice and avoiding rewarding inefficient practice. The Court commented further (quoting 27
28

1 Judge Lundin) as follows:

3 Three or four hours of attorney time and a like number of hours of paralegal time 4 in an experienced debtors' attorney's office can produce excellent results in a 5 "typical" Chapter 13 case. Another lawyer who less regularly handles Chapter 13 6 cases might double or triple the time investment to produce the same or less 7 desirable results. Applying normal lodestar methodology can penalize the 8 efficient volume counsel by reducing the fee in each case while rewarding the 9 inefficient practitioner with higher fees.

10 Id.

11 Thus, the Ninth Circuit decision in Eliapo emphasized efficiency when considering fee 12 applications and encourages bankruptcy courts to avoid rewarding less efficient efforts. As a 13 result, awarding $920 to the Firm would not be consistent with Eliapo because the level of 14 efficiency by the Firm was in the bottom 2%.

15 In reviewing the data further, 80% of the 106 fee applications listed on Exhibit 3 involved 16 instances in which counsel for debtors asked for less than $675 (or asked for more than that but 17 agreed to less than $675) for the same services provided by the Firm. Eighty-five of the 106 fee 18 applications resulted in agreed fee awards of less than $675 for the same services provided by the 19 Firm in this case. From the Court's perspective, it makes sense to focus on the level of efficiency 20 of the top 80%. Requiring practitioners in the bottom 20% to contemplate reaching for the level 21 of efficiency of the top 80% seems reasonable.

22 Accordingly, for all these reasons, the Court will allow $675 in fees and costs for services 23 rendered by the Firm in connection with (1) the motion for relief from stay and (2) one-third of 24 the work related to preparation of the fee application.

1 IV. FEES FOR THE DEBTORS' DECLARATION AND THE STATUS CONFERENCE.

2 A. The Post-Confirmation Default.

3 The next category of services performed by the Firm pertains to a declaration of the 4 Debtors regarding the status of direct payments in the case. Under the terms of the confirmed 5 chapter 13 plan, the Debtors proposed to make payments during the course of the case directly to 6 the following secured creditors: Bank of America,⁸ Td Auto Finance,⁹ Toyota Motor Credit Co.¹⁰
7 and Visterra Credit Union/Altura.¹¹ Section 1326(c) of the Bankruptcy Code provides for a 8 bankruptcy trustee to make disbursements to creditors during a case but the Debtors proposed to 9 make payments to these secured creditors directly. The Debtors committed in their chapter 13 10 plan to make payments every month directly to the creditors without the Trustee acting as the 11 disbursing agent. Accordingly, the Court confirmed the chapter 13 plan on that basis.

12 Unfortunately, the motion for relief from stay by Bank of America revealed that the 13 Debtors defaulted in making those monthly payments. Bank of America provided evidence that 14 the Debtors had failed post-confirmation to make three mortgage payments.¹² The motion 15 indicated that the Debtors were delinquent in the amount of $4,838.23 post-confirmation.

16 Because the Debtors had failed to make direct payments to one creditor (Bank of 17 America), the Court directed the Debtors to provide information regarding whether or not they 18 had paid the other secured creditors (Td Auto Finance, Toyota Motor Credit Co. and Visterra 19 Credit Union/Altura). Without this information, it was unclear whether the default by the 20 Debtors in the chapter 13 case was limited to simply Bank of America or was more extensive. In 21 response, counsel for the Debtors prepared a standard secured debt payment history declaration 22 and, thankfully, it revealed that the Debtors were not in default to the other creditors. The 2 payments to any creditor other than Bank of America.

4 B. The Secured Debt Payment History Declaration.

5 The Court has created and posted a form secured debt payment history declaration and 6 the Firm used that form in preparing the declaration in this case.¹³ In this case, the Firm 7 modified the form slightly by inserting some additional sentences. However, most of the 8 document filed in this case consists of the Court form.

9 This form declaration has been submitted hundreds of times in chapter 13 cases. As with 10 so many other discrete tasks in chapter 13, a rhythm has emerged over the years regarding the 11 amount of fees that are reasonable and customary for preparing this form declaration for debtors.
12 Indeed, there has been litigation about this very issue which culminated with a decision by the 13 Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

14 There are four instances in which the secured debt payment history declaration is 15 typically submitted to the court: (1) with a motion by debtors to continue or impose the automatic 16 stay, (2) prior to confirmation, (3) annually post-confirmation and (4) prior to a status 17 conference. With respect to the first two instances, submitting the declaration is considered part 18 of the cost of pursuing another task (i.e. a motion by the debtors to continue or impose the 19 automatic stay or confirmation of a chapter 13 plan). Preparing the declaration under those 20 circumstances is not separately compensable.

1 1. Fee Applications for Annual Secured Debt Payment History
2 Declarations.

3 With respect to the third instance, in some cases the confirmation order provides that 4 debtors will file annual declarations regarding payments which the debtors asked for permission 5 to pay directly post-confirmation. The Court has reviewed 228 fee applications filed by counsel 6 for chapter 13 debtors for fees and costs associated with filing the annual declarations. They are 7 listed on Exhibit 4 and, as set forth on the last page of Exhibit 4, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors 8 have requested on average $400.93 in fees and costs for filing an annual secured debt payment 9 history declaration and, on average, they have agreed to accept $312.79 in allowed fees and 10 costs. The figure of $312.79 includes all attorney's fees and costs for preparing the declaration 11 and all work associated with preparing the related fee application.

12 13 2. Fee Applications for Secured Debt Payment History Declarations And 14 Status Conferences.

15 With respect to the fourth instance in which a secured debt payment history declaration is 16 submitted – in connection with appearing at a status conference – the amount of work involved 17 is, for several reasons, a bit more than the work associated with submitting the annual secured 18 debt payment history declaration. First, obviously, the fourth task usually involves an 19 appearance at the status conference and, therefore, more time for counsel.

20 Second, the declaration submitted in advance of the status conference tends to require a 21 little additional work. Although the secured debt payment history declaration should be 22 cumulative (i.e. cover all years of the entire post-petition period) whether submitted annually or 23 prior to a status conference, the annual declaration (which does not involve a status conference) 24 is easier to prepare because an attorney need only collect data for the prior year and add it to the 25 annual declaration from the year before. Thus, less work is involved for any given annual 26 declaration.

1 However, when the Court sets a status conference (due to a post-petition default) and 2 requests that the debtors provide a cumulative declaration, counsel must (usually for the first 3 time) prepare a declaration for the entire post-petition period. This usually happens in cases in 4 which (for various reasons) the debtors have not previously submitted any secured debt payment 5 history declarations. Thus, the declarations under these circumstances tend to involve a bit more 6 work and information.

7 Third, the declarations submitted in connection with a status conference tend to involve 8 non-conduit cases (which are then typically converted, to some extent, into conduit cases). Non-9 conduit cases involve more direct payments for more secured creditors than conduit cases. The 10 more direct payments that occur in a case, the lengthier the secured debt payment history 11 declaration. So, again, while the degree is not particularly great, the declarations submitted in 12 connection with a status conference tend to be a bit longer.

13 For these three reasons, the work involved in submitting a secured debt payment history 14 declaration and attending a status conference tends to be a bit more than simply submitting an 15 annual declaration.

16 In contemplating the appropriate amount of fees and costs, the Court first encountered 17 this issue in 2013 in the case of In re Kevin Walker, 6:09-bk-28706-WJ. In that case, counsel for 18 a chapter 13 debtor filed a fee application requesting $1,622.34 in fees and costs in fees for the 19 same services rendered in this case: preparing a cumulative secured debt payment history 20 declaration in connection with a status conference.¹⁴ The chapter 13 trustee objected and the 21 Court awarded $600.¹⁵

23
24
25 ¹⁴ See Application for Supplemental Fees filed on June 25, 2013 [docket #86] in In re Kevin Walker, Case No.
26 6:09-bk-28706-WJ.

27 ¹⁵ The ruling of the Court was explained in detail on the record and the transcript of the hearing was filed on 28 the docket on August 15, 2013 [docket #105] in In re Kevin Walker, Case No. 6:09-bk-28706-WJ. The order approving fees of $600 in the Walker case was entered on the docket in the Walker case on July 30, 2013 as docket #96.

1 In doing so, the Court surveyed 125 fee applications which indicated that attorneys for 2 chapter 13 debtors were requesting, on average, $565.06 for such services.¹⁶ For this reason, the 3 Court awarded $600 to counsel. An appeal followed and both the district court and the Ninth 4 Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the ruling of this Court. See Bayer Wishman & Leotta (In re 5 Walker), 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 117644 (C.D. Cal. 2014), affirmed, 652 Fed. Appx. 539 (9th Cir.
6 2016).

7 The Court has now supplemented its research. In addition to the 125 fee applications 8 studied in the Walker case, the Court has reviewed an additional 447 fee applications for the 9 same services. In total, the Court has compiled data regarding 572 fee applications for this 10 specific task (preparing a declaration and appearing at the status conference) and all of that data 11 is listed on Exhibit 5. Exhibit 5 lists all the data from the original 125 fee applications in the 12 Walker case¹⁷ plus the additional 447 fee applications. All 572 fee applications address the same 13 task as in this case: preparing a declaration in connection with a status conference (and the cost 14 of preparing the fee application).

15 As set forth on the last page of Exhibit 5, attorneys for chapter 13 debtors have requested 16 on average $650.55 in fees and costs for filing a secured debt payment history declaration and,
17 on average, they have agreed to accept $576.64 in allowed fees and costs. The figure of $576.64
18 includes all attorney's fees and costs for preparing the declaration, appearing at the status 19 conference and all work associated with preparing the related fee application. Thus, a fee of 20 $600 continues to be appropriate.

23
24
25
26 ¹⁶ The data for the 125 fee applications studied in the Walker case is listed on Exhibit 1 of the Court order 27 regarding the fee application which was entered on the docket in the Walker case on July 30, 2013 as docket #96.

28 ¹⁷ The data for the 125 fee applications studied in the Walker case is listed on Exhibit 1 of the Court order regarding the fee application which was entered on the docket in the Walker case on July 30, 2013 as docket #96.

1 3. Indexing For Inflation.

2 However, it should be noted that the original decision in the Walker case (involving the 3 study of 125 fee applications) was based on a review of fee results generated without judicial 4 intervention. In other words, the data from the 125 fee applications in the Walker case reflected 5 allowed amounts based on agreements between counsel for the debtors and the trustee. Either 6 counsel for the debtor proposed an amount of fees and the trustee agreed or the trustee objected 7 and then the parties resolved the matter by agreement.

8 In all 125 instances, the Court did not weigh in on the matter. Indeed, the Court had 9 never posted any type of “no-look” or presumptive fee for these services or otherwise provided 10 its own guidance (prior to Walker). The parties (counsel for the debtors and trustees) worked 11 that out amongst themselves. That changed, of course, with the Walker decision.

12 Once the Court approved a fee of $600 in the Walker case (based on the 125 fee 13 applications filed to that point in time), it unavoidably provided guidance for the parties (even 14 though the Court did not publish the decision). That was reinforced when both the District Court 15 and Court of Appeals affirmed the Court’s decision. Thus, it should not be surprising that the 16 fees awarded in the subsequent 447 fee applications have also hovered (on average) in the 17 vicinity of $600.

18 So the figure of $600 does reflect a “usual and customary” fee for this type of service but 19 it does need to be increased because of inflation. While the nature of the services in all 572 20 applications is the same and has remained the same since the 2013 Walker decision, the value of 21 money has not. Ever corrosive, the steady march of time has eroded the value of $600. The 22 value of $600 in 2013 is not the same as the value of $600 in 2019.

23 Thankfully, guidance to address this problem is readily available. Congress enacted 24 section 104 of the Bankruptcy Code which indexes for inflation the exemption amounts listed in 25 section 522 of the Bankruptcy Code and other sections of the Code. Every three years, the 26 figures in the Code change based on inflation. Section 104(b) entrusts to the Judicial Conference 27 of the United States (“Judicial Conference”) the task of revising these numbers every three years 28 based on the rate of inflation over the prior three-year period.

1 So, for example, the Judicial Conference followed the statute in 2016 and increased the 2 exemption amounts by 3.016% effective April 1, 2016.¹⁸ Three years later, the Judicial 3 Conference again followed section 104 and increased the exemption amounts (and other dollar 4 amounts in the Code) by 6.218% effective April 1, 2019.¹⁹ Using these figures means that $600 5 in fees in 2013 is now equivalent to $650 in fees in 2019.²⁰

7 C. Conclusion.

8 Accordingly, for all the reasons state above, the Court will award $650 for all attorney’s 9 fees and costs for preparing the declaration, appearing at the status conference and one-third of 10 the work associated with preparing the related fee application.

11 12 V. FEES FOR THE DEBTORS’ BRIEF.

13 Finally, the last task in the fee application filed by the Firm is unique. The Firm prepared 14 a brief (separate from the declaration) in advance of the status conference. The Firm seeks 15 $1,600 for four hours of work (at $400 per hour) preparing the brief (“Brief”).²¹

16 The Brief is a bit perplexing. It makes several legal arguments that have been rejected by 17 courts in the Ninth Circuit.

18 For example, the Brief argues that payments made by a debtor directly to creditors under 19 a confirmed plan are not “payments under the plan” within the meaning of section 1328(a) of the 25 ²⁰ Adjusting a figure of $600 from 2013 by the inflation rate used by the Judicial Conference in 2016 26 (3.016%) increases $600 to $618.10 as of 2016 ($600 times 1.03016 equals $618.10). Then, adjusting the figure of $618.10 by the inflation rate used by the Judicial Conference in 2019 (6.218%) increases $618.10 to $656.53 as of the 27 present ($618.10 times 1.06218% equals $656.53). Rounding $656.53 to the nearest $25 – pursuant to 11 U.S.C.

§104(a)(2) – results in a figure of $650.

1 Bankruptcy Code.²² Counsel argues (in effect) that a chapter 13 debtor can obtain a chapter 13 2 discharge without making direct payments. In effect, counsel contends that direct payments are 3 optional.

4 However, an “overwhelming majority of courts” throughout the country have rejected 5 this argument including the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.
6 In Derham-Burk v. Mrdutt (In re Mrdutt), 600 B.R. 72 (9th Cir. BAP 2019), the BAP stated that 7 “we join the overwhelming majority of courts holding that a chapter 13 debtor’s direct payments 8 to creditors, if provided for in the plan, are ‘payments under the plan’ for purposes of a discharge 9 under § 1328(a)” Id. at 81. The BAP used the phrase “overwhelming majority” twice in the 10 decision and cited numerous cases in support.²³ Indeed, there are at least several dozen 11 published²⁴ and unpublished decisions²⁵ that embrace the view that direct payments are

2 In re Formanek, 534 B.R. 29, 34-35 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2015) (“This Court adopts the uncontroverted reasoning and 3 conclusions of other courts determining payments required to be made directly to creditors under a confirmed 4 chapter 13 plan are ‘payments under the plan,’ as that term is used in § 1328(a). Applying this reasoning, the Court 5 finds the payments the Debtors promised to make directly to Wells Fargo are ‘payments under the plan’ and the 6 Debtors’ failure to make those payments prohibits entry of their discharge in Chapter 13 . . . Although the Debtors 7 made all required payments to the Trustee and Wells Fargo failed to seek relief from stay to enforce it [sic] state law 8 rights with respect to the Residence, the Debtors failed to pay over $100,000 worth of post-petition payments in 9 violation of their Confirmed Plan and provided no evidence, or even allegations, as to where and how all of the income 10 earmarked for these payments was used. The Debtors cannot obtain a discharge of their debts in Chapter 13, and 11 rewarding the Debtors with a discharge in Chapter 7 for their failure to comply with the Confirmed Plan and the 12 Bankruptcy Code is inappropriate. The Debtors’ gamble did not pay off, and the penalty for putting their discharge at 13 risk is they will not receive this benefit. Therefore, the Court determines dismissal is in the best interests of all 14 creditors and the estate due to the material default of the Confirmed Plan evidence by repeated missed postpetition 15 payments to Wells Fargo.”); In re Gonzales, 532 B.R. 828, 832 (Bankr. D.Colo. 2015) (“A standard discharge under 16 § 1328(a) requires completion of all ‘payments under the plan’ and that language plainly embraces payments that a

18 (holding that debtors who failed to make direct payments to their mortgage lender post-confirmation were not entitled 19 to a discharge).

24 payment made pursuant to the provisions of a Chapter 13 plan, regardless of whether such payment is made through 25 the trustee or by a debtor directly to a creditor. Unfortunately, over the years, certain nomenclature has evolved which 26 has led to confusion over the meaning of the phrase ‘under the plan.’ The term ‘outside the plan’ is bankruptcy 27 parlance that has been used to describe a payment made by a debtor directly to a creditor without going through the 28 Chapter 13 trustee. Some practitioners and courts believe that making a payment ‘outside the plan’ means that the payment is not made ‘under the plan.’ Conversely, the term ‘inside the plan’ has been used to describe a payment made by a debtor through the trustee, and some practitioners and courts believe that only such payments as these are made ‘under the plan.’ This Court disagrees with both of these views. Every Chapter 13 plan which this Court has reviewed reflects which claims will be paid through the trustee and which claims will be paid directly by the debtor; therefore, when the plan is confirmed, all payments that are referenced in the plan, regardless of whether they are made by the trustee or directly by the debtor, are payments made ‘under the plan.’ For these reasons, the Court believes that the use of the terms ‘outside the plan’ and ‘inside the plan’ are confusing. It would be preferable to discard the use of these two phrases and, instead, use the phrases ‘payments through the trustee’ and ‘direct payments by the debtor’ -all of which are payments made ‘under the plan.’” (citations omitted)); In re Russell, 458 B.R. 731, 739 (Bankr. E.D. Va.
2010) (“And in any event, simply because payments are not being made through the trustee does not mean they are not being made ‘under’ the plan. If the plan defines the payment terms--and in this case it clearly does--then the payments are being made ‘under’ the plan regardless of whether the debtor pays the creditor directly or pays through the trustee.”).

22 ²⁵ Kessler v. Wilson (In re Kessler), 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173961, *7 (N.D. Tex. 2015) (“Kessler’s failure 23 to pay the current mortgage payments for the duration of the bankruptcy proceeding was a failure to complete all 24 payments under the plan as required. Therefore, Kessler is not entitled to a discharge.”); In re Gelin, 2018 Bankr.
25 LEXIS 258, *4 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2018) (“This Court has previously held that a debtor must make all payments under a 26 plan in order to receive a discharge under chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Code and that direct postpetition mortgage 27 payments are payments under the plan for purposes of § 1328(a).”); In re Payer, 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 1941, *5 (Bankr.
28 D.Colo. 2016) (“As the term is used in § 1328, ‘payments under the plan’ includes payments made directly to a mortgage holder when provision for that direct payment is a term of a debtor’s confirmed plan.”); In re Strimbu, 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 4493, *5 (Bankr. D.Colo. 2016) (“The Debtors cannot be granted a Chapter 13 discharge because § 1328(a) requires completion of all payments under a plan for discharge to be given, and this Court has found payments to be made directly to a creditor constitute ‘payments under the plan’ for purpose of § 1328.”); In re Tumblson, 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 735, *5 (Bankr. E.D.Okl. 2016) (“This Court understands that the Debtor has completed the other payments required under her confirmed plan, and that she paid 100% of the remaining filed, allowed claims. However, she does not qualify for a discharge pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1328(a). That section 1 “payments under the plan” within the meaning of section 1328(a).

2 In the Brief, the Firm cited two cases in its favor, but the BAP specifically considered and 3 rejected both cases.²⁶ Instead, the BAP followed the “overwhelming majority” of other cases in 4 the country that reached a different conclusion.

5 As a result, it is problematic that the Brief filed by the Firm did not address (or even 6 mention or acknowledge) that a very large majority of the caselaw on this issue contradicts the 7 position asserted in the Brief. When briefing a legal issue, counsel does have a duty to advise the 8 Court of contrary authority when adopted by most courts in the country. At least some of the 9 dozens of contrary decisions should have been mentioned in the Brief.²⁷

10 Second, the Brief filed by the Firm also argued that the powers of bankruptcy courts are 11 limited under section 105(a). The Brief argued that bankruptcy courts lack the power to dismiss 12 a case unless the trustee or a creditor requests such action.²⁸ The Firm did not provide any

13 conditions a discharge upon the ‘completion by the debtor of all payments under the plan’ Numerous courts have 14 held that direct payments made to creditors pursuant to a confirmed plan are ‘payments under the plan’ as referenced in 15 § 1328(a).’); In re Cherry, 2016 Bankr. LEXIS 4492 (Bankr. D.Colo. 2016) (finding that a debtor cannot receive a 16 discharge unless all direct payments are made); In re Doggett, 2015 Bankr. LEXIS 2220, *8 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2015) 17 (“A discharge under § 1328(a) requires completion of all ‘payments under the plan’ and that language plainly embraces 18 payments that a plan provides will be made directly by the debtor to a creditor.”); In re Furuive, 2014 Bankr. LEXIS 19 2403, *9 (Bankr. D.Colo. 2014) (“Debtors did not make the direct payments to Bank of America . . . and are therefore 20 not entitled to a discharge under § 1328(a).”); In re Daggs, 2014 Bankr. LEXIS 2509, *8 (Bankr. D.Colo. 2014)
21 (“Because the Debtor did not make the direct payments to Bank of America . . . she has not completed all payments 22 under the Plan. She is not entitled to entry of a discharge under § 1328(a).”); In re Arredondo, 2004 Bankr. LEXIS 938 23 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2004) (“The debtors’ receipt of a discharge is conditioned upon the debtors’ completion of all plan 24 payments 11 U.S.C. § 1328(a). Providing for so-called direct payments does not alter this requirement.”).

25 See also, In re Arredondo, 2004 Bankr. LEXIS 938, *3 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2004) (“The debtors’ receipt of a 26 discharge is conditioned upon the debtors’ completion of all plan payments 11 U.S.C. § 1328(a). Providing for so-27 called direct payments does not alter this requirement.”); In re McIntosh, 1996 Bankr. LEXIS 825, *3 (Bankr. N.D.
28 Ind. 1996) (finding a debtor is not entitled to a discharge “until all the payments required by the plan have been made and the creditors provided for by the plan have received what the plan says they will.”).

29 ²⁶ The Brief cited In re Gibson, 582 B.R. 15 (Bankr. C.D.Ill. 2018) and In re Rivera, 599 B.R. 335 (Bankr.
30 D.Ariz. 2019). However, the BAP mentioned both cases in Mrdutt and rejected them. The BAP described Gibson and 31 Rivera as the “[o]nly two courts [that] have held that a debtor’s direct payments . . . are not ‘payments under the plan’ 32 for purposes of § 1328(a).” In re Mrdutt, 600 B.R. at 79. The BAP cited and discussed numerous other cases that 33 reached the opposite conclusion and then rejected both Gibson and Rivera. Id. at 80 (“While Gibson and Rivera are 34 thoughtful and well-intended decisions, we respectfully disagree.”).

35 ²⁷ To be fair, the BAP issued its Mrdutt decision the day before the Firm filed its Brief and even the most 36 seasoned legal researcher could have missed a decision issued only a day earlier. So the failure to cite Mrdutt in the 37 Brief is understandable. But the dozens of other cases which reject the legal position advocated in the Brief – the 38 “overwhelming majority” of prior cases to which the BAP referred - were issued months and years earlier.

²⁸ See Brief, page 4 (“Since no party in interest has requested a dismissal there is no grounds for the Court to dismiss the case. The Court is limited under its section 105 powers in what it can do sua sponte.”).

1 caselaw in support of this assertion and there is Ninth Circuit caselaw to the contrary.

2 Again, the Bankruptcy Appellate Panel for the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has 3 specifically held that bankruptcy courts “can dismiss a case sua sponte under Section 105(a).”
4 Tennant v. Rojas (In re Tennant), 318 B.R. 860, 869 (9th Cir. BAP 2004). The Tennant case
5 involved a chapter 13 case. Similarly, the Ninth Circuit has also held that a bankruptcy court can 6 convert a chapter 13 case to chapter 7 sua sponte pursuant to section 105(a). Rosson v. Fitzgerald 7 (In re Rosson), 545 F.3d 764, 771 n.8 (9th Cir. 2008) (“Although the statute provides for 8 conversion “on request of a party . . . or the . . . trustee,” 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c), there is no doubt 9 that the bankruptcy court may also convert on its own motion. See id. § 105(a) (“No provision of 10 this title providing for the raising of an issue by a party in interest shall be construed to preclude 11 the court from, sua sponte, taking any action or making any determination necessary or 12 appropriate to enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process.”).”).

13 Again, it is problematic that the Brief filed by the Firm did not provide case authority in 14 supports of its assertion and did not cite the applicable (and contrary) Ninth Circuit decisions on 15 that issue. When briefing a legal issue, counsel does have a duty to advise the Court of contrary 16 Ninth Circuit authority.

17 Finally, the Brief is only five pages long and at least a full page covers introductory and 18 background information and another half page consists of a lengthy quotation of a statute. The 19 Firm seeks compensation for four hours of work for drafting the Brief but it is difficult to 20 conclude that each of the five pages required, on average, about 48 minutes to draft (i.e. four 21 hours or 240 minutes total).

22 Accordingly, in light of these issues, the Court will allow two and one-half of the four 23 hours requested for (1) preparing the Brief and (2) one-third of the costs of preparing the fee 24 application. At $400 per hour, that computes to allowed fees of $1,000 of the $1,600 requested.

VI. CONCLUSION.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth above, the Court hereby awards $675, $650 and $1,000 for a total of $2,325 in allowed fees and costs.
